

J. D. McARTHUR GIVES $5,000; PROMISES $15,000 MORE TO INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION

MORE INDUSTRIES FOR EDMONTON IS MACDONALD'S AIM

Organizer and Promoter Off on Campaign Without Any Expense to City.
GOES TO UNITED STATES AND TO EASTERN CANADA
Will Tell His Story and That of George M. Hall of Opportunities Here.

He has gone east to fetch more industries to Edmonton.

Norman L. Macdonald, known as "the Apostle of Faith in Edmonton," left the city last night for eastern Canada and the United States, and he will be gone for two months. He is going to fetch more industries to Edmonton, and his campaign will mean no expense to the city. He is going to tell in his own way that Edmonton and its tributary territory are only other names for Opportunity, and he is going to spread the same gospel as an expounded by Industrial Commissioner George M. Hall in his many and convincing pamphlets, which he wrote as one of the best believers in Edmonton. Mr. Macdonald will preach his own knowledge and distribute that of Commissioner Hall in city after city.

"It's the man on the ground who knows," said Mr. Macdonald as he boarded the train, "and Mr. Hall and myself have been well over the ground."

Result of His Efforts.
Mr. Macdonald is a director and a large shareholder in the Edmonton Leather and Shoe company at Manchester, to which the city soon will extend water as the result of the recent action of the council, which Alderman Joseph Clarke predicted would be one of the best moves that the city has ever made by the city this year when he cast his vote for the resolution at that session of the aldermanic board whose decision was unanimous.

Mr. Macdonald worked unceasingly for more than a year to get this utility to Manchester, and more utilities are expected to be extended to this district as a result of his efforts.

Mr. Macdonald also is the organizer of the Dixon Steel and Bridge company at Manchester; the Alberta Wire Nail company at Calgary, and several other industries in western Canada.

The Edmonton Leather and Shoe company is selling its products in this city and they are handled out of the city by one of the largest wholesale houses here. Business has been increasing right along, and when it was decided to enlarge the plant and to include other branches of the industry, Mr. Macdonald was selected as the man best fitted to go east to arrange for the necessary improvements.

Opportunity to Aid City.
In his trip he saw an opportunity to do something for the city without costing the municipality anything. Appreciating the good work of Mr. Hall in the publicity line, he consulted the industrial commissioner, who knew him as a man who could be depended upon to do whatever he said he would do, and who would stand his word accurately. He told Mr. Hall he would visit many cities in the eastern Canadian provinces and in the large cities of the United States where the great factory centers are, and that in addition to his own arguments he would like to have for distribution the clear-cut and forceful word pictures of Mr. Hall. Thirty-seven and a Half Hours After Fire Man Is Taken From Ruins.

WORKMEN STARTLED BY A CALL FOR A DRINK

Victim Found Pinioned With a Dead Body Under Wreckage in Basement.

St. Louis, Mo., March 19.—Thirty-seven and a half hours after he had been buried beneath tons of debris, Thomas Burke was taken from the ruins of the St. Louis Seed company building this morning. Burke died at the city hospital several hours after being taken from the ruins. The seed company was demolished when a portion of a seven-story wall of the burned Missouri Athletic club building toppled over on it Tuesday afternoon. Thirty lives were lost in the fire that destroyed the Athletic club structure.

During the early morning hours bodies were taken from the seed company ruins, bringing the total of recovered dead to seven.

Workmen digging in the ruins to extract a dead body were startled by cries for a drink from under the wreckage in the basement. Officials set the entire force of eighty men to work in an effort to locate the caller. After half an hour of frantic digging the men tore away a section of flooring and a heavy beam which pinioned Burke and a dead body.

MANY MINOR MATTERS ARE ATTENDED TO BY CITY COMMISSIONERS

On a report from Commissioner Saunders this morning which recommended that all temporary walls be laid by the city in future and charged up in the current years taxes, there arose considerable discussion. Many divergent views being expressed by members of the board. It was finally decided that to move satisfactory to issue short term debentures, say for two or three years, covering these walls, and same will be recommended to council if the sinking fund board will agree to buy the debentures.

On the board to the move, Mr. Richardson are to interview the board and report back to the commissioners at next meeting on Friday.

Commissioner Saunders reported that the C. P. R. had given permission to the city to proceed with the high level bridge as proposed. Tenders are now being called for the work.

Commissioner Booth recommended that in future all laborers employed by the city be engaged through the city employment bureau in charge of T. M. Turnbull. There was opposition on the board to the move, and Commissioner Saunders was asked to get a report from the city engineer as to his experiences in the past in the matter of employing laborers for sewer and other works.

Mr. C. Chown suggested that since $65,000 had been spent by the city in the workshop of the stores and works department, the superintendent should give him an opportunity of figuring on any contracts that are to be given out. This was agreed to and the superintendent will be notified accordingly.

"INFAMOUS LIE" SHOUTS CARSON IN COMMONS!

DEVLIN SAYS HE WAS ONCE HOME RULER

Shouts of Protests and Cheers for Both Members Fill the Chamber.

SPEAKER HAS HARD TIME TO BE HEARD

Law's Motion to Censure Government Regarding Ulster Meets Defeat.

London, March 19.—A vote of censure on the British government was moved today in the house of commons by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, it was based on Premier Asquith's refusal on Monday to give details of the scheme of local option which the nine counties of Ulster would be permitted to vote separately on the question of the new Irish government.

When Sir Edward Carson and Joseph Devlin, nationalist member for Belfast, entered the house, the atmosphere became heated, the Ulster leader called Mr. Devlin a liar when the Nationalist member declared that Sir Edward Carson at one time had been a home ruler.

"It is an infamous lie" roared Sir Edward Carson, and when the speaker suggested a modification of his language Sir Edward substituted for "liar" the statement is a wilful falsehood.

Shouts of protest and cheers in support of both members filled the chamber and it was some moments before the speaker was able to make himself heard in an appeal for the avoidance of personalities.

Proposal Was Rejected.
Mr. Law's proposition that a referendum of the country should be taken on the home rule bill and the local option proposal was rejected by Premier Asquith, who said that he believed that the government's proposal offered the only hope of a lasting settlement. Mr. Law, in his speech, contended that the government could not afford to make such a sacrifice of its principles or dignity. He said he did not desire to stand on technicalities. He declared that if Premier Asquith's proposal that the counties of Ulster should be allowed to vote separately on the question of the new Irish government meant that Ulster was not to be driven from the rest of the country, it would be accepted as a basis of discussion. If, however, it meant that at the end of a certain time the people of Ulster were to be brought automatically under the power of the Dublin parliament against their will, the Ulsterers absolutely rejected it.

No Impediment in Way.
The opposition leader then made his offer of a guarantee that the unionists would place no impediment in the way of carrying out the wish of the Ulsterers to have a referendum of the United Kingdom on the home rule bill and the local option proposal.

Mr. Law's speech concluded with the following words:
"The government of the army? If it is only a question of discretion, the army will and ought to obey, but if it is a question of war, the army will not obey like the rest of the people. The army will be divided and that force will be destroyed on which we depend for our national safety."

Home of Lasting Settlement.
Premier Asquith, however, refused to accept the proposition of a referendum. He said he would not go further than to say that any government must look to the safety of the country.

The premier who spoke only for a few minutes said:
"The government does not recede from its proposals, under which there would be no coercion of Ulster. The scheme gives a year's trial of home rule before there would be any attempt to bring Ulster under its provisions. It is my belief that the Ulster government proposals are the only hope of a lasting settlement."

Another Angler Killed.
Salisbury, England, March 18.—Another officer of the royal flying corps of the British army was killed here today. Lieut. Treby of the Duke of Wellington's West Riding regiment was flying in a biplane over the army aviation grounds when the machine slipped and fell to earth from a height of 250 feet.

LIBERAL MEETING POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Although a large number of Liberals gathered in the old Robertson Presbyterian church last evening, perhaps the largest meeting yet held since the present organization scheme commenced, it was postponed owing to the fact that no arrangements had been made for heating the building. This district No. 8 will be organized next Monday night at the same place.

Tonight at 8:15, in the MacCoshum building, corner of Peace and Ninth, liberals of district No. 9 will convene, with R. V. MacCoshum presiding and Hon. A. G. MacKay, Hon. Wilfrid Cartwright, J. W. Adair, G. H. O'Connor, William Rea the probable speakers. This district lies between Fifth and Tenth streets and south of the C.N.R. tracks.

Tomorrow evening's meeting, No. 10 district, will be held at the corner of Adams and Ninth, with W. A. Irvine in the chair. The tenth district is bounded on the north by Norwood and on the west by First street, and on the southeast by the C.N.R. tracks.

Unexpended Donations Will Be Used in Connection With Gas Fund.

Thorough Examination of North Resources Industries Coming Here Will Have Definite Information to Work On.

Waving a check for $5,000 amid a din of applause and cheering, W. J. MacArthur, president of the Edmonton Industrial association, at today's noon luncheon in the Empire auditorium, announced to the 500 members present that J. D. McArthur, president of the Edmonton, Vancouver and H.C. railway, had donated that sum for the work of the association, after a full, he had with Mayor W. J. McNamee in Winnipeg recently, and that Mr. McArthur had also promised to make another handsome donation of $15,000 in 18 months. If in his opinion the work merited it.

Almost $5,000 Is Collected.

Such a wave of zeal did this announcement create that between $7,000 and $8,000 was collected from the members present for the gas fund. Among those who without waiting and in a few moments added to this fund were: Messrs. MacKay, Milne, McDevlin, Jeddle, Hall, Payne, L. L. Pearce, Dalton and Wall—$500 each.

T. H. McCallie and the Empire Hotel company—$200 each.

Messrs. Lay, Dube, Kenneth, F. W. Pearce and Orr—$200 each.

Messrs. Kirkland, Thompson, Hezorn, Morgan, Barnes and Thrasher—$50 each.

Messrs. Coombs and Edgett—$50 each.

Messrs. McIntosh and Carter—$25 each.

Still On the Job.

Secretary, Mr. J. D. MacArthur, and a staff of assistants were still busy taking in $100 subscriptions when the doors were closed for the evening, and that nearly $5,000 was donated altogether.

During the first part of the meeting Mr. Milne read out a list of about a dozen new members who had been accepted since the last luncheon. So soon after had finished that four others who were present at the luncheon and whose names had been ready on hand to accept and their goodwill. The number of members at the time of going to the luncheon was 500.

A person who was just taking in one of these luncheons for the first time, said that he had been told that the association was a "hoax" and that "they should be taken care of."

At each place today was a large number of members, and in the Empire auditorium, Mr. MacArthur stated that in addition to the regular luncheon with Woodcock, he created a disaster. Mr. MacArthur stated that those present who did not receive a paper, would receive one if they called at the secretary company's office, also that he could say the same about the map and the work on the committee.

Resources of North Country.

The city auditorium department of the association, which a voluminous and important list of names, and requests every member to be present for next Thursday's meeting. About a dozen of the members have been appointed to push this work, which gives some idea of the scope it is intended to carry out.

A. T. Harter, chairman of the natural resources branch of the industrial association, in the Empire auditorium today was a paper weight made of cement from the plant of the Edmonton Cement Co. (Edmonton) company, set Maribon on the G.T.P. about 144 miles west of the city, set at each place.

DEATH AND HEROISM IN COMBAT AT SEA WRECK

Captain and Another Man Drowned Owing to the Roughness of the Ocean—Thrilling Rescue Is Witnessed, and There Is Intense Excitement Among the Spectators on Shore.

Halifax, N. S., March 19.—Death and heroism were in thrilling combat yesterday afternoon at the scene of the wreck of the City of Sydney, off St. John's, when Captain Daniel Barnes of Halifax, and Robert Snow, of Lunenburg, were killed. The ship was wrecked owing to the roughness of the sea. The work of salvage was carried on by means of a tug, the Dufferin, which was held away by an oil in the hands of the captain, Snow was receiving the ship while the others were rushed toward the wreckers. Captain Murdoch of the Dufferin was on board the Sydney, and started in a dory to the rescue with a young lad Herbert Evans, a lad of 250 feet.

LEADERS OF OPPOSING SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT

While Lloyd George collaborates with Ramsey MacDonald in an effort to relieve the state of the home rule bill so that the land reform measure may have a clear right of way, Winston Churchill brings in a navy budget calling upon British taxpayers to put up more money than ever before for the construction and maintenance of battleships.

Although members of the same cabinet, these two men are manifestly headed in different directions. To Lloyd George nothing on the agenda appears of importance except those items of social legislation for which his name has become synonymous. His fervor is for economic justice. Given the power, he would nationalize every foot of land in Britain, would endow motherhood and guarantee old age, would compel safety first, the minimum wage, compensation and insurance against unemployment. His theory of defence appears to be that it is first of all the home that requires defending if the nation is to become great, and his consuming anxiety is evidently to make the best use of every hour in this behalf lest at the next election, through divisions among those called liberal, the power so to do slip from his hands.

Winston Churchill's theory of national greatness seems to be the exact antithesis of all that Lloyd George holds dear. To his mind a nation's greatness is expressed in squadrons, forts and guns. That Germany has been compelled by the very burdensomeness of it to relinquish the programme of armament which, when announced two years ago, constituted the German war scare seems to present to him the opportunity, if British taxpayers will but accept the burden, to place Britain in the position where Britain may hold the elements of the destruction of the German civilization at all times in her hand, loaded, primed and cocked. This, to his mind, appears to be the position to which the British empire should aspire.

Against the Georgian theory it is urged by the conservatives that if permitted to materialize as legislation it will twist the fabric of industrialism out of all semblance of that system upon which Britain has become the paramount manufacturing nation of the world, but against the Churchill theory it is urged by the radicals that it threatens the destruction of not only the great manufactories of Britain but of the whole European civilization as well by inviting a war of annihilation in which will be precipitated the greatest outpouring of blood and treasure that the world has ever known, and through which the whole industrial supremacy of Europe must be destroyed.

So divergent are these two outlooks that the impossibility of their reconciliation is manifest. Somewhere these two must separate, each to follow the faith that is in him. And when that time comes there will commence to be written the next great chapter in Britain's history. Of both men, however, it must be said that they share in common one great genius, the genius of being able to get before the public in such a manner that their fundamental difference cannot be misunderstood the real issues of the day. As leaders of their opposing theories they would present the opportunity to settle the questions by the ballot, once and for all.

TO BRING THE PRICE OF PHONES UP TO THE COST

In compiling its advertising rate, a newspaper estimates the worth of its service as an advertising medium upon a basis of the circulation it enjoys, figuring, of course, that every reader is a potential customer whom the advertiser has opportunity to make acquainted with the goods he has to sell. In this way the newspaper recoups itself for the extra cost of the larger circulation. Failing to raise its rate with the growth of its circulation, the newspaper would be accepting the loss entailed by the production and distribution of a larger number of copies which are invariably retailed at less than cost.

In a general way, this principle, well known to every patron of the newspaper, applies to the telephone business. As the number of subscribers increases on the exchange, the service becomes more valuable to each individual subscriber for the reason that the subscriber enjoys the opportunity to talk to a greater number of other subscribers.

Also, the cost per subscriber becomes greater, proportionately, for the reason that subscribers having the opportunity to talk to a larger number of other subscribers, make larger use of their instruments, thereby entailing the necessity for greater switchboard capacity in proportion to the number of instruments in use, besides entailing a larger amount of attention per wire by the "trouble" department for the reason that "trouble" occurs in almost mathematical proportion to the number of calls.

This is the position that the Edmonton telephone system is in at the present moment. It is giving a service to the individual subscriber which permits him to call up any one of 9,600 subscribers. The price being charged for this service is the same as when there were less than half the number of subscribers. But the value of the service has increased and the cost of the service has increased while the price of the service to the subscriber has remained stationary. The time has arrived when, in order to meet expenses, the rate per subscriber must be raised.

The intention in Edmonton, with its municipal system, is not to make a profit out of the telephone, but to furnish the best possible service at cost to the subscribers. The automatic service in Edmonton is passably good, much better, in fact, than that of almost any privately-owned system in Canada, and the rate—$20 for house phones and $33 for the highest-priced desk phones—is the lowest rate, considering the number of subscribers, in America. When the rate has been raised it is quite likely that the rate will still be the lowest on the continent, as the Edmonton system is now and has always been upon a genuinely good footing, but the growth of the telephone "circulation" makes a raise of rate necessary in order to bring the price up to the cost.

IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR YOUR BACK HURTS, TAKE SALTS

We eat too much meat, which clogs kidneys, and they need a flushing occasionally.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms acids which clog the system, so they sluggishly filter or strain into part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Early in rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or a redness of the skin, if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a generation of swelling, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then feel fine. This fine-grained salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been found for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize all acids in the system. It no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

FIRST THINGS

The first English settlement in Connecticut was established as the result of a real estate deal made 251 years ago today, March 19, 1637, when the tract of land to be known as Connecticut Colony was granted by the Earl of Warwick to Lord Say and Seal, Lord Brooke, John Hampden, John Pym and others. The previous year the council of Plymouth had granted the tract to the Earl of Warwick, and King Charles I. confirmed the grant by a patent. Connecticut was first explored by a Dutch navigator, Adrian Block, who sailed up the Connecticut river as far as the site of Hartford in 1614, thirty centuries ago this year. Under the grant from the Plymouth council Connecticut included all that part of New England west from the Narragansett and east from the Connecticut and the river, and the land and breadth adjoined to the "Pacific ocean." In 1636, a Dutch vessel, the Beaufort, prepared the frame of a house, placed it on a vessel and sailed for the Connecticut river. He found a small fort, just built by the Dutch and called the "House of Good Hope," at Hartford, and, landing on the west bank, he sailed up the river to the mouth of the Connecticut. In 1637 Lord Say-Brook, named in honor of Lord Say and Seal, was built at the mouth of the river.

He was educated at Collège de Lévis, Collège and Laval University, and was admitted to the bar of his native province thirty years ago, having studied law under Sir John Abbott, and the Hon. R. BY DEFEATING GRAND MERE 4-1; REGINA HOLDS ALLAN CUP 1914

Trimmed Eastern Team on Hard Ice and Took Round 10 to 5—Have Had Most Successful Season—Are Now World's Amateur Champions.

Regina, March 19.—"We will start just where we left off Monday night and they can't lose as we are playing that kind of game," said Captain Austin Creswell of the Victoria, last night, just before the game. So it proved. The Victorians retained their title of Amateur hockey champions of the world by beating the Grand Mere seven by the decisive score of four to one. That score made the total on the round ten to five, thus demonstrating the superiority of the Vics beyond the possibility of a doubt.

The great crowd was tremendously enthusiastic when the bell rang for full time, and all the Vics were cheered off the ice on the shoulders of their supporters.

Regina's Great Work.
The Vics simply played the Grand Mere out of their feet. The visitors fought gamely, but were beaten in the first five minutes of the game and what is more, knew it. Their attack at times savoured of the desperate, but they could not penetrate the Vics' great defence. Back-checking of the Vics forwards was so strong that few of the Mere team seemed to come to life again for a short period. But the Vics held off the attack with ease, though they could not themselves penetrate the challengers' defence. Ritchie played a truly marvelous game, and his work was ably seconded by Stevens, who checked hard, and Hoffman, whose back-checking was also a feature.

Regina's Defensive Work.
The Grand Mere attacks were smothered by the speed of the Vics forward line. Wilson and Abbott checked back with determination.

The Vics began playing more of a defensive game, although always they were threatening the Grand Merets. The half ended without further scoring, and the Vics left the ice with a margin of five on the round.

In the second half the play was much the same. Grand Mere was plainly beaten, but the Vics were taking no chances, and contented themselves largely with smothering the attack and occasionally, boring in for goals on their own account.

Molski got the first after 10 minutes, and then the game developed into a see-saw with Ritchie doing the bulk of the work for the challengers, and the whole Regina seven playing with the spirit of victory plainly stamped on their countenances. Just before the bell rang, Kelly sent a long shot past McCulloch. He lifted the puck almost from center ice and it slipped by a very much better net guardian.

Ritchie and others worked hard to score again but the Vics defence was an obstacle.

The final score remained at 4 to 1, and the crowd surged on the ice to carry out of the world.

The supporters of the Grand Mere team, and the players themselves had figured that on harder ice they would be able to give a better account of themselves than on Monday night. It was generally considered that after the long train ride in rather poor condition. Their great speed in the first 10 minutes of the game, and the series during which they clearly outplayed the champions, showed what was in them, and it was thought they would be better able to maintain that speed throughout last night's game.

If anything they were in better shape than ever, a fact with which the rather alkaline Regina water had something to do, according to the statements of the players themselves. But at their best they would not have withstood the attacks of the champions last night.

Some Individual Stars.
The game was rather rough, hard body checking being frequent. There was a little deliberate dirty work, and whatever there was, was heavily penalized by the judge of play. He was rather too severe in some, and too lenient in others. However, with the work of the officials generally there was little to question.

The individual stars of the night were Creswell, Abbott and Wilson for the Vics, and Molski for the Merets. Molski, regularly the fastest man on the challengers, did not show to advantage. He was rather slick during the day, and suffered a badly bruised shoulder early in the game tonight. Consequently he did not figure in the play to the extent expected of him.

Stevens played well throughout, but was clearly outclassed by the speed of the Vics, while Kelly on Hoffman played hard. Grand Mere was rather better than in the opening game of the two, but his ability was shown only in flashes.

Wilson last night showed again the brand of hockey which his supporters believe is his own. He was in exceptional form, and his back-checking was a feature of the night's play. He continuously outclassed the Grand Mere forwards in their rushes and took the rubber from them by the simple expedient of skating in front of them. Creswell was splendid throughout, holding off the opposing forwards in splendid style, and he was ably assisted by Otton who showed up even better last night than on Monday. Masted worked well on the wing and was in the game every minute of the night. He had more shots on the Grand Mere nets than any man on the team. Molski again played a wonderful game. The little man had both Kelly and Hoffman checked to a standstill, and was being into the husky defence of the challengers regardless. Three of the goals fell to his shooting prowess. McCulloch in goal again gave a wonderful exhibition of the skill which made Regina fans so happy when he was secured.

Y. M. C. A. RUNNERS GET EARLY START FOR SEASON'S WORK

Eleven of Edmonton's crack athletes met for a practice last night under the direction of Trainer Jack Buchanan, and put in a good half hour's work on the pavement roads in the heart of the city. Judging from the early start the runners are off to this year and the great amount of interest taken by them, there promises to be a most successful season ahead of them this summer and fall. Those out last night were: Stewart, Pierce, Jack Hall, Cliff Dunham, Roy Hallberton, Logan Blades, C. Dwyer, W. Talbot, Harold McKay, Chet English, H. English, and Tommy Buchanan. Regular practice runs are held from the Y. M. C. A. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at 7:30 o'clock.

O. H. A. CHAMPIONS TRIM SCHREIBER

After Hard Battle Score Was 2 to 1

Port Arthur, Ont., Mar. 19.—In the dying moments of last night's exhibition game between Toronto R. and A.A. senior O. H. A. champions, and Schreiber, champions of the Thunder Bay league, Toronto scored in a goal that Schreiber had at once scored.

It was a great game in which Schreiber had all the better of the first two periods, making four or five shots to one for the Torontos, and outplaying the O. H. A. men at every point, but it was not until the third period that Schreiber scored one. Then G. Meeking was hurt and retired, making six man hockey of the last 15 minutes.

Toronto's excellent at that game, though being lucky in the tie up, especially as referee Signale had refused a Schreiber goal, claiming the puck had been kicked by McKenzie in his rush down the side for a shot that beat Smith. Play was very clean and the fastest of the season here.

(Line-up)
Toronto—Smith, Gooch, Hoffmann, Stevenson, G. Meeking, Brown and H. Meeking.
Schreiber—Harriott, Simon, McCarty, White, McKenzie, Patray and Jamison.

EDMONTON AND CALGARY CHAMPION BASKETBALL TOMORROW NIGHT, Y.M.C.A.

Calgary Has Six Point Lead, But Edmonton Should Overcome This and Return Championship to This City.

When the whistle blows for the start of the big basketball game tomorrow night at the Y.M.C.A. every available seat will have been sold, and it looks as though the biggest crowd of all years will be in attendance to see Edmonton and Calgary battle for the province.

Calgary has the strongest team in years and managed to earn a win over the Edmonton team in the southern city last Friday by the narrow margin of six points, but the locals feel certain of overcoming the small lead and bringing the Alberta title back to Edmonton, where it belongs.

The Edmonton team will be without the services of Noble Stevens, the big forward who has been a tower of strength to the team the last two years, but his advent into the Peace River country a few days ago made it necessary to find another player suitable and of sufficient basketball ability to fill his place. There are a number of men eligible for the position, and it is probable that Joe Watson or Willie Whitehead will be chosen for the responsible undertaking. Either of these boys when working right will be quite as good as any man on the Calgary team, and there is every reason to believe that when the teams clash tomorrow night at 8:15, the fans will not only see the best basketball game in years, but will see the Edmonton team bring back the championship of the province. Tickets are now on sale at the office of the Y.M.C.A.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES BEHIND $20,000 CHALLENGE

From Atlantic to Pacific and Back Again Without Adjustment.

One feature of the Russell Knight Engine Test has been the attention brought to Canadian Manufacturers. The performance of this motor has become a subject of interest for automobile authorities on two continents, and much favorable comment has been made. To many engineers, even strong supporters of the Knight Engine, it is a matter of surprise that a motor would run for 500 hours without adjustment, repair or replacement except to spark plugs as this engine did.

This motor ran the equivalent of 8,264 miles, or three times from the Atlantic to the Pacific, or twenty times from Toronto to Montreal, at every range of speed from 100 revolutions per minute to 2,000.

So enthusiastic is the Russell Company over the standard set for the factory by this test, that they have offered $10,000 to any one who will equal this performance with a Poppet Valve Engine. Added to this the Knight and Kilburne Patents Company, Chicago, owners of the rights of the Knight Engine, have added a like amount, making in all $20,000. That the Russell Knight Engine performance cannot be equaled.

The Test Report is now being printed and will be ready for distribution shortly.
